A complication of female troubles, with catarrh of the stomach and bowels,

IN THE PHILIPPINES.

Yankee Thanksgiving Customs Have Made a Hit There.

Since Admiral Dewey played the part of a modern Columbus and discovered an archipelago with a greater number of inhabitants than were to be found in all America when Columbus landed there have been great changes in the Philippines, and a good many of the customs brought over by the Yankees have been adopted by the natives. Any form of festive enjoyment always appeals to those childlike people of the south seas, and to the numerous holidays introduced and celebrated by the Spaniards they have been glad to add Thanksgiving. Turkeys are as yet lacking, but they will come in time doubtless, and meanwhile there are plenty of other things suitable to feast upon.

Uncle Sam has now 10,000 soldiers in the Philippines, and every one of them will celebrate Thanksgiving day in some fashion. Though they are scattered over the island in no fewer than 400 different posts, every "mess" will have its special dinner to mark the joyous occasion. For this feast money will be provided out of the "company fund," which is handled by the captain of each company.—Philadelphia Times.

The Pony Smoke.

The Apaches and Cheyennes are in the habit of holding a pony smoke on Thanksgiving day. Often the Osages, too, indulge in this expensive festival.
A pony smoke is a friendly meeting of two tribes and is especially appropriate for the occasion. The tribe giving the smoke is supposed to bear all the expenses. They provide the best game and vegetables in the market for their guests, and at the end of the first day's meeting they present a good pony to the head of each family visiting them.
As a tribe consists of from 300 to 500 families, the expenses soon mount high. The Osages, being the richest reservation Indians there are today, can better afford to hold pony smokes, and, combined with their feast day, they generally invite several hundred guests from the Poncas, Tonkawas and surrounding tribes. Those accepting the ponies are supposed to return equally expensive gifts later on.—Buffalo Express.

The tomorrow of which we dream never comes, but the real tomorrow upon arrival is merely a commonplace today.—New York Tribune.
